The Matthew F. Stolz Scholarship in Political Science

Not to be confused with the other Matt Stolz prize we currently offer for theory papers*

This fellowship will cover a year's tuition at SFSU minus $27.50 a semester (the amount of tuition it cost Matt Stolz when he went to school).

This fellowship is based on two things a) financial need and b) demonstrated interest in political theory. It is intended for undergraduate political science majors, generally juniors, to pay for their senior year at SFSU.

To apply please give a copy of your transcripts indicating the courses in political theory that you have taken here and give some evidence of financial need, whether it is a financial aid form, an income tax form, or some other form of evidence.
